

Jessica Jimenez

My name is Jessica Jimenez and I enjoyed my time interning with the City of Torrance. When I first applied for the internship program, I was expecting more office work. I was really excited when I began working with Hilary. As a Community Service Intern I was required to create a survey for any program, and the ASSIST program was relevant to my past experiences for the library. So far we have completed the survey and are undergo testing. When I applied to create a survey, I prioritized myself to get the survey completed as soon as possible, but at the same time I needed to know the material. I am hoping that this internship will show responsibility, knowledge and time management, and that I will be able to carry out a task given to me and I know my information.

As an intern I was expected to carry out the task of coming to the job prepared and on time and to fulfill a day's work. I was hoping to take away better communication skills, and to utilize my skills that I learned inside the classroom. I have been able to establish my thoughts on paper and bring them to life. The impact that the City of Torrance has made on my goals are helping me find a place in my future. Through my experience at Bartlett Center and in the Library, I have understood the technology and created a survey to help people in the community and keep the city involved of what is going on within the library. The City of Torrance has increased my interest in government participation. I enjoyed reaching out to the public, getting to know the people in the Bartlett Center and those that helped me achieve to this point in the internship.
